

Public Lecture

On triangles, gases, prices and men

Cédric Villani

Université de Lyon and Institut Henri Poincaré, France

This is the story of the encounter of three a priori unrelated fields: non-Euclidean geometry, theory of gases, and economics. This will be the opportunity to evoke a subject of contemporary research in its various facets, and about the way research works.